

EXPLO
Learn

ARTS & CULTURE

FIBER ART EXHIBIT TAKES OVER HISTORIC SEAPORT BUILDING NEVER OPENED TO THE PUBLIC

Untapped New York by Emmalyn Meyer

EMMALYN MEYER

SHARE f t i

In the heart of South Street Seaport, New Yorkers can step inside a former 18th-century warehouse for the first time ever and explore a new fiber art exhibition. The Golden Thread incorporates legends of the seaport and old machinery left inside the historic building at 207 Front Street with innovative new textile works. On May 7th, join Untapped New York Insiders for a tour of the stunning exhibit led by curators John Lee and Karin Bravin with one of the artists featured, Orly Cogan!

This tour is free for Untapped Untapped New York Insiders! Not an Insider yet? Become a member today with promo code JOINUS and get your first month free.